By: Kaitlyn Maccaroni

On Wednesday, October 29, 2014, Winslow Township Middle School hosted its first of many Community Nights. People in attendance were the Mayor of Winslow Township, parents, teachers, administrators, students, and community volunteers. There were plenty of events for kids of all ages to participate in such as pumpkin painting, costume contests, and even a dance party. Entertainment and performances were provided by the Dance Team, Chorus, Orchestra, and Band. The fall sports teams were recognized up on stage for their participation, effort, and teamwork. Complimentary snacks were provided such as hotdogs, pretzels, and bottled water. Additionally, there were door prizes, guessing contests, and poster giveaways. If you were able to head down to the gymnasium, you could also find information and giveaways from local businesses. "This is a great way to bring the community of Winslow Township together. My kids are having a great time and I was so proud when my son preformed his dance routine twice!" A local parent enthusiastically commented. So if you missed the fun, be sure to keep a look out for the next community night; it will be a great time!

Renaissance Rules the School!

By: Shane Gallagher

The Renaissance Program run by Ms. Kownacki and Mrs. Kernaghan, kicked off the year with a field trip to Nifty Fifties on October 9th, 2014. Renaissance members started the trip by miniature golfing at the 18-hole course located next to the restaurant. After the scores were counted and the winners were crowned, the students entered the restaurant to eat and were treated to various milkshakes as part of their trip. Once the crispy fries and colossal cheeseburgers were gobbled down, the students proceeded into the entertainment area where they spent their tokens playing various arcade games. After the fun was done, the Renaissance members began their trip home.

During the month of October, the Renaissance program sold Wawa Hoagie Coupons. The money raised will go towards future trips and other expenses. Stay tuned for upcoming trips and fundraiser dates!

Divergent

Faction or family? In Divergent, written by Veronica Roth, society is divided into 5 factions, or groups. In the Dystopian Chicago world, each faction is dedicated to a particular virtue. The factions consist of Abnegation: the selfless, Candor: the honest, Dauntless: the courageous, Amity: the peaceful, and Erudite: the intelligent. Soon, 16-year old Tris Prior finds herself coming of age to find out which faction she will belong in, depending on the results of her Aptitude test and her own decisions. However, the results of Tris's test turn out to be inconclusive, and she is identified to be Divergent, which meant that she didn't fit into any one faction, but instead three different factions,. Soon, Tris realizes that to be Divergent meant danger, and that everyone was after her; somehow a threat to their seemingly perfect society, and that she had to keep this a secret. At the Choosing Ceremony, she makes a choice that shocks everyone-including herself. I give this book all 5 out of 5 stars, and I recommend it to those who enjoy action, thrills, and a completely unpredictable, astounding plot.

Mr. and Mrs. Know It All

Do you have an issue that you just cant seem to fix? Need advice on school, family, or friends? Well, have no fear, Mr. and Mrs. Know It All are here. Get the male and female perspective on your issue!

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Know It All,

I am someone who loves to be involved in every aspect of school. I belong to many clubs and also participate in sports teams during the fall, winter, and spring. I also babysit my little brothers when my mom works weekend. Lately, I've found it hard to balance grades, friends, and time with my family in addition to all of the extra curricular activities mentioned above. I would really love some advice on how to balance everything and still keep my sanity. HELP!

Yours truly,
Balancing

Dear Balancing,

I get that it's hard to balance a job and still have time for your friends and family. School work is very important to do, so you must make that a top priority. Family and friends are extremely important as well. I would suggest possibly stepping back from a club or two until you are able to find your "balance". Friends are very hard to maintain when you have a lot on your mind and of course, family is very important. If my advice doesn't work for you, you can also talk to you family about everything that's going on. Families are meant to stick together and will always be by your side. Just take a deep breath and remember what is most important!

Yours truly, Mrs. Know It All

Dear Balancing,

I bet it's difficult to handle everything plus you have many people such as teachers, parents, coaches, siblings, and friends depending on you for various things. You always need to remember to take time for yourself. Do something that makes you happy at least once a day; even if it is for 10 minutes. Whether it is reading a book, going for a run, or playing a favorite "word game" on your phone, you must always remember to take time and unwind. And most importantly, don't forget to confide in your family, friends, and teachers. These are people you can lean on for advice and support; don't be afraid to ask for help!

Yours truly, Mr. Know It All
